COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is designed to enhance the knowledge of radiologists specializing in breast imaging including early detection and diagnosis of breast cancer. Methodologies will include didactic and interactive formats. Topics include: Biology of breast cancer, diagnostic imaging options, interventional procedures directed toward breast care, management and treatment issues surrounding breast disease, controversial and cutting edge information concerning management of non cancer high risk pathologic entities, and personalized risk assessment for potential tailored screening for breast cancer.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this activity, participants will be able to:

- Integrate state of the art data on common issues related to breast cancer detection and diagnosis
- Utilize the available literature regarding screening and risk assessment to optimize their individual practice
- Model expert management algorithms for a variety of breast care needs

TARGET AUDIENCE

This course is directed to radiologists in practice and in training whose scope includes breast Imaging.

COURSE DIRECTORS

Robyn L. Birdwell, MD, FACR: Associate Professor of Radiology, Harvard Medical School; Division of Breast Imaging, Brigham and Women's Hospital

Sughra Raza, MD, FACR: Associate Professor of Radiology, Harvard Medical School; Associate Director, Breast Imaging, Director, Women's Imaging Program, Brigham and Women's Hospital

GUEST FACULTY

Jennifer A. Harvey, MD, FACR: Professor of Radiology, Chief, Division of Breast Imaging, Co-Director of the UVa Breast Care Program, Vice-Chair, Faculty Development University of Virginia Charlottesville, VA

ACCREDITATION

The Harvard Medical School is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The Harvard Medical School designates this live activity for a maximum of 18.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™]. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

This activity meets the criteria of the Massachusetts Board of Registration in Medicine for 1.50 credits of Risk Management Study. Please check your individual state licensing board requirements before claiming these credits.

The Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada recognizes conferences and workshops held outside of Canada that are developed by a university, academy, hospital, specialty society or college as accredited group learning activities. Through an agreement between the American Medical Association and the European Union of Medical Specialists, physicians may convert AMA PRA Category 1 Credit[™] to an equivalent number of European CME Credits[®] (ECMECs[®]). Information on the process of converting AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™] to ECMECs[®] can be found at: www.eaccme.eu.

SAM CREDIT

This course is pending approval by the American Board of Radiology for Self Assessment Credits (SAM).

ABMS/ACGME COMPETENCIES

This course is designed to meet one or more of the following American Board of Medical Specialties and Accreditation Council of Graduate Medical Education competencies:

Patient care and procedural skills, medical knowledge and practice-based learning and improvement
